

What type of DVO?

Non-violence

While the “non-violence” DVO is in place the person with the DVO (defendant) is not allowed to:

- Harass or bad humbug
- Threaten
- Verbally abuse
- Assault or hit
- Intimidate or scare
- Stalk or follow around the victim (protected person).

Also not allowed to damage the victim’s property or threaten to damage the victim’s property.

If this DVO law is broken by the defendant it could mean jail or fine. The only way to change a DVO is by asking the Judge at court. There are 3 main types of DVOs.

For urgent help about domestic violence call Police on 000

For legal help call:

North Australian Aboriginal Family Violence Legal Service | Darwin 1800 041 998 | Katherine 1800 184 868

Domestic Violence Legal Service (Darwin) 08 8999 7977

Top End Women’s Legal Service 1800 234 441

Katherine Women’s Information and Legal Service 1800 620 108

NT Legal Aid Commission (Darwin only) 1800 019 343

This poster is a community legal education resource of NAAJA | North Australian Aboriginal Justice Agency

